This yearbook is the product of thousands of hours of blood, sweat, tears, fun, frolic, and frustration. When we took it on, we couldn't appreciate the magnitude of the job we were undertaking. If we had known last September what we know now, we would probably have beaten a hasty retreat. But we did take it on, and we did see it through. The satisfaction we can now take in the finished product is our reward.

This is your yearbook. We hope that it will remind you of a pleasant and rewarding year at St. Mary's. We also hope that you will forgive us for any errors that have managed to creep in. We were very careful but nobody is perfect, not even us.

We wish to thank everyone who helped us and supported us, with a special thanks to Ron Middleton and Joe Cabrera for their professional-quality photography.

We dedicate the yearbook to the students and staff of St. Mary's. Particularly, we dedicate it to Miss Ann Mahoney, yearbook advisor, teacher and friend.

YEARBOOK STAFF,
MR. KEOUGH

CHOOSING A TOMORROW

Which way should I go?
Which path should I take?
Will it work out
Or will it be fake?
Will it work for me?
Is it right for you?
How can we make it
Last and be true?
Never before
Has this choice been made.
Never before
Has this price been paid.
Only two lights
Can shine as one Giving smiles and laughter
And some fun.
The path that I choose
Will I have to turn back?
Will I make many mistakes
Or have to find a new track
So many thoughts
Are in my head
So many tears
I have shed.
Life is for living
Each and every day.
Choices must be made
In all different ways.
Give me the chance
I'll see what to do.
My life will last
Every day through.

Graduates

Valedictory Address

Farewells are never nice—particularly when they involve good friends and happy times. But we have been prepared to move on. Our foundations have been laid and those who have helped us so much in the well-being we enjoy today: our parents, teachers, counsellors and friends have every right to expect that we will built on that foundation—so move on we must. Furthermore, if we don't, the grade elevens will run up our backs and our parents will start charging us rent.

When we cruise the hallways of St. Mary's looking at the pictures of all those who have graduated before us, we can't help but feel proud and confident knowing that we are a part of a great tradition. But perhaps this year it is a tradition of special significance, as we, the graduates of Calgary's oldest Catholic high school, join our celebration with our Province's 75th Anniversary, and really, what better way for all of Alberta to celebrate than to join us: the Class of 1980.

Although we must leave St. Mary's now and the future will take us far and wide, a part of us will always remain here (at home) in our school. A part that will remain peaceful and happy, even when society seems less than kind.

I expect we shall always find it easy to remember the good times St. Marys held for us. However, we shall not easily forget the occasional not-so-good time. The struggles, the failures, the disappointments. They will always remain a part of our lives and we shall be stronger for it. Whether we like it or not, struggles and disappointments are bound to be a part of our future reality—and, above all, St. Mary's is real.

We will always have a soft spot in our hearts for the comradeship and concern St. Mary's shared with us. Even though we are turning the page to a new chapter in our lives, with clean, open pages awaiting our footprints, perhaps some to be soiled, we will never be able to forget our high school experience.

But the "good old days" are rapidly drawing to a close and it's time to shed the clothing of a lifestyle we have become accustomed to and dawn the apparel of a new and uncertain life.

If everything we see on the 11:00 news is to be believed, it can be a rough world out there. I suppose most anyone can just survive, but St. Mary's has taught us that we must do more than survive. We must live; we must contribute; we must grow; we must make ourselves and the world we live in better. We have to keep striving and reaching out for that elusive horizon. We have to keep believing and hoping in tomorrow while living today. That's the tradition of St. Mary's.

St. Mary's has provided us with good foundations for our future; the values to build on and the strength to begin. All we have to do now is decide on the type of structure we would be and complete the blueprints and start pounding the nails. Each of us will have a unique set of blueprints. Some of us will want to build a skyscraper; the foundations are there. Some of us will choose to settle down early with a home and family; the foundations of time, love and concern are in place.

Perhaps some of us will be less provident and carry all our belongings on our backs. Nature will be your walls and the stars your roof. Fine! No matter what your particular structure looks like, we shall find ourselves drawing on our experiences at St. Mary's and, as such, it is probable that we shall be happy.

For the past twelve years our parents, teachers and counsellors have been coaching us, urging us on to greater heights, yet helping us to pull up our socks when they begin to gather at our ankles.

Therefore, it is fitting at a time like this to recognize and thank all those who helped us reach this milestone in our lives.

Firstly, to our parents to whom we owe so very much, yet often thoughtlessly fail to show our appreciation. We extend our thanks for all the time and sacrifice you have made out of love for us. Our lives begin with you and you shall always occupy a special place in our hearts. These mostly silent but sometimes not-so-silent supporters played a bigger role in our school life than we can realize at this time or shall ever be able to thank them for.

Secondly, our teachers, not only for their curriculum but for their attitude towards us students as people: people with needs, people with problems, and people with feelings. You have made our stay at St. Mary's great and we thank you for everything—also, we hope you recover by September.

To our friends, for the laughter we shared, for their companionship and for their concern, for tolerating each other in the good times and the bad—thank you. We shall miss one another.

And for everyone else who was a part of St. Mary's thanks for making it the great place it was for us.

I know that I have not been able to express all the feelings experienced here tonight for they are mixed and many. Waiting to see what the future holds for us is both exciting and frightening. It will be hard stepping out of the warmth and security we have cometto know at St. Mary's, but each of us, in turn, must leave yesterday behind and challenger the future. We must go and build our castles; but because of what each of you has been to each of us, we will look forward to that future with confidence and excitement.

May the spirit of St. Mary's remain with us always and may the Lord continue to watch over us.

Thank you and farewell.

– Mary-Lou O'Byrne

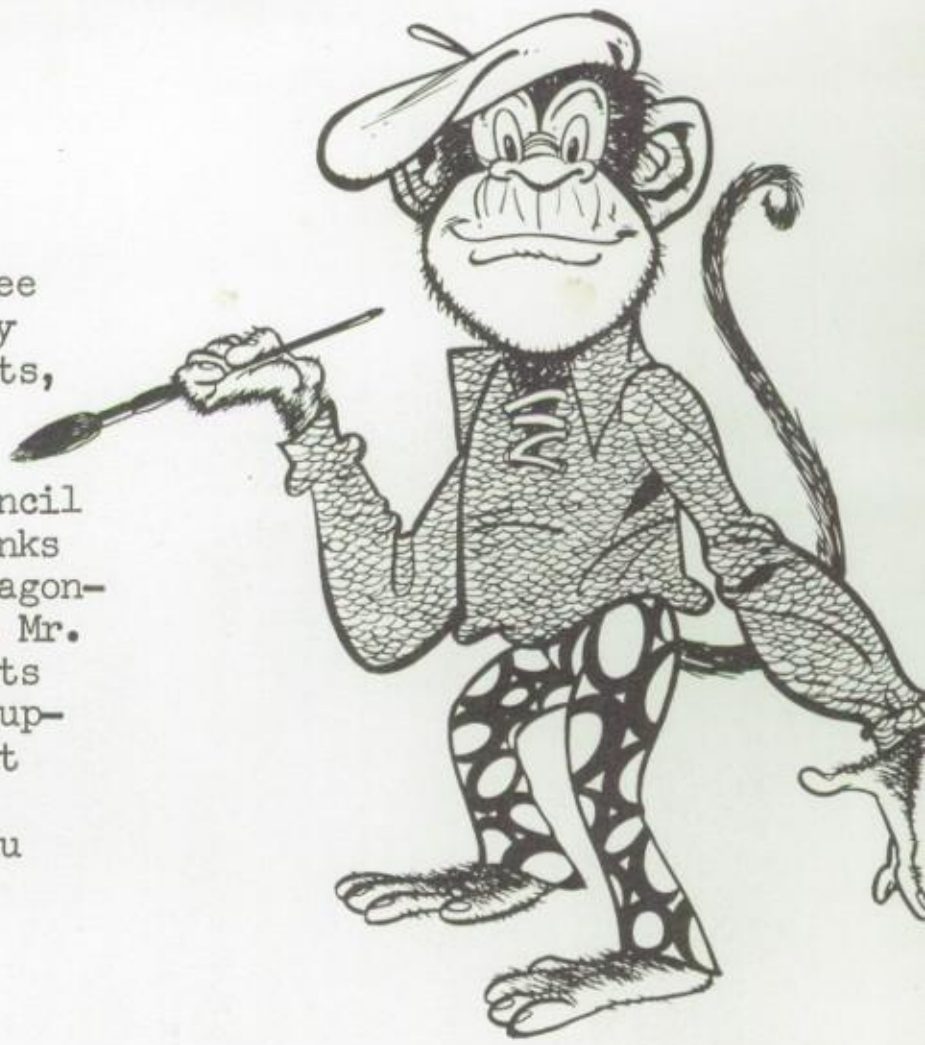
Principal's Message

You have completed one more year of your life at St. Mary's. Some of the goals you set for yourselves have been achieved and, in the future, you will continue to strive towards the fulfilment of others. The responsibility for the success or failure of your efforts rests with you. Your perseverance alone will determine the extent and quality of your further physical, spiritual, emotional and intellectual growth. It is my hope that we, the staff of St. Mary's, have assisted you in the choice of realistic goals, and in the development of the attitudes, talents and skills necessary to achieve them.

God Bless You.

D.J. Gruenwald
Principal

President's Message



Another year has gone by, and for many of us, we find it is our last at St. Mary's. The last three years have been very rewarding for me, especially the past year when I represented you, the students, on the Student's Council as your President. I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. McWhir for serving as teacher advisor to the Council and for sacrificing his time for the Board. Thanks also to the teacher advisors for each house: Dragon- Mr. MacDonald, Phoenix- Mr. Tenove, Thunderbird- Mr. Duragon, and Unicorn- Miss Mahoney. Their efforts made the Students Council work. Thank you for supporting us during the year; we hope we didn't let you down.

May the Spirit of St. Mary's remain with you Always.

Glenn Smyth,
President, 1979-1980

TRADITIONS

traditions.
are they...

dusty?
perhaps.
Like an old basket collecting dust upon a high shelf too high to reach too hard to dust high, hard, useless

traditions.
musty?
maybe.
as grandmother;s old linen still whole. smelling faintly of lilacs the scent, not strong enough to draw us to search at the back of the closet not bothering to take it out too fragile old-fashioned traditions.

forbidding?
possibly.
an attic dark, silent, still forebidding much too frightening to spend time in deserted

traditions.
are they...
dusty? musty? forbidding?

no

not dusty: the basket is taken down, dusted off,
useful again, fitting in with the new, delicate china but nevertheless fitting in not musty: grandmother's linen spread upon the table beautiful, lacy blending the new, appearing more lovely when set upon the old not forbidding: the attic holds treasures, promises, reflections

new ideas flow when prompted by memories

traditions.
they are... useful beautiful a treasury

The Early History of St. Mary's

The history of St. Mary's begins twenty years before Alberta became a province. In 1884, the Sisters Faithful Companions of Jesus came out from Europe, and in the following year opened in Calgary the First Separate School in the territory that is now Alberta. In the early years there were no denominational restrictions. Both Catholic and Protestant children were admitted. The Sisters served English and French, Indian and Metis children. They introduced a bit of European culture into the wild West.

The school was operated originally more in the manner of a private school. It was supported by student fees, some donations and a small government subsidy. Exactly when the first taxes were collected for the school is not recorded, but the earliest records of the Board of Education for the North West Territories show that in the year 1890-1891, a total of $351.34 was collected in taxes. The school was operated in four departments, each under one teacher:

High School Department accommodated 21 pupils;
II Department (high school entrance) accommodated 27 pupils;
III Department (elementary) had 41 pupils; and IV Department had 53 pupils.

Twenty one subjects were listed for High School: Reading, Dictation, Composition, Writing, Arithmetic, Ethics, Drill, Grammar, Geography, History, Literature, Book-keeping, Drawing, Music (vocal), Algebra, Geometry, Latin, French, Physiology, Hygiene, Agriculture and Needlework. All subjects were taken by the entire class.

In 1894, the Sacred Heart Convent Building was completed, and in this building the Sisters conducted classes for boys and girls. Soon it was impossible to accommodate all who sought admission, and in 1909 the St. Mary's School was built (the old wing of St. Martin's). By now, of course, Alberta was a province. The year 1909-1910 is epochal for the Calgary School system. The St. Mary's School was the first Separate School to be opened in the province. It was officially blessed on February 2, 1910. Our school is close to its sixtieth birthday.

The dominant personality in the first three decades of our history was Mother Mary Greene who was a teacher, principal, and for a few years, superintendent of the one school system. Her hand was on the reigns from 1885 until 1911. She left Calgary in 1913 after years of dedicated service. Other early teachers were Sisters Philomena Crotty, Grant, Quigley, Bernard, Ambrose, Olivier, Ethelburga, MacNamara (second principal), Blackwell, and McKinnon; Misses Theresa Thomas, Nivens, and Ethyl McDonald.

In the following years, as Calgary grew, elementary schools were erected in other spots in the city while their graduates came to St. Mary's for their intermediate and high school instruction. Both boys and girls comprised the enrolment until 1918 when Bishop McNally instituted for boys of Calgary and outside Calgary, St. Mary's College. In 1921, a fire destroyed a part of the building where classes were held, and this necessitated a move to the rear of the rectory building for some classes. What we now refer to as the old CN Station was at that time the parish hall, and the top floor of this hall was also used by the college. About this time, the Calgary Separate School Board took over the College, and the name was changed to St. Mary's Boys School. From 1927 when the old wing of the present St. Monica's building was opened, St. Mary's Boys School handled the intermediate and senior high grades.

In 1906, W. Ryder became the first male to come on staff. He was followed by J.A. Connelly in 1910. The first principal of St. Mary's College and later, St. Mary's Boys school, was Fr. (Dr.) Cameron, a Rhodes scholar from Prince Edward Island. On his staff he had Fathers Carew and MacAdam; then Messers A.A. O'Brien, P.J. LeClair and Fr. Doyle. Later came replacements, Messers English and Murphy, Clancy and McLear, and Fathers Dunbar, Mulville and Clancy.

St. Mary's Boys school experienced a change in 1933 when the Basilian Fathers replaced the other clergy on staff. Fr. Paul Mallon was principal. Among others who came with him was Fr. James Whelihan who was a notable and influential teacher until 1968.

The years since 1940 were years of rapid growth and deserving of separate treatment. We shall skip over them with only three statements. The present High School Building was erected in 1958 and added to in 1970. The Boys' and Girls' schools were combined in 1970, and four years later, the institution was re-organized to become St. Mary's Community School.

Dear Ronnie,
Ron you are an excellent athelete and I hope that you never give up because I know for a fact you are headed for the big time. No matter what anyone says I have a hell of alot of faith in you and I know you will ~~both~~ make it to NBA if you work at it. I have never seen anyone dribble a ball like you. Promise me you will keep it up and remember I get a season pass in future. Love: Collen "Red" "Finnie"

Go a really super fucken basketball player but not to good of a football player.
~~Go~~ a good shit.
